

The arrival of the German peace delegation at Versailles on April 29. Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the mission and Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Ebert Ministry, is the tall man with light hat and light overcoat. At his left is Baron von Leisner. The Germans were received with the required military ceremony and were carefully guarded against hostile demonstrations on the part of the French inhabitants. Copyright, International Film Service.

The opening of the National Assembly at Vienna. This is the first photograph to be taken, and it shows that there are a number of women members. The Austrian peace delegation has just been summoned to Paris. Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Unusual interest was taken this year on the anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare, April 23, and there was a huge pilgrimage to his tomb at Stratford-on-Avon. Officials of the Shakespearian Club are shown leading the procession. Photo by International Film.

A hitherto unpublished photograph of Gen. John J. Pershing and his favorite charger, taken overseas. On May 22 Gen. Pershing will visit England as the guest of the nation and will be the recipient of unusual honors. Keystone Photo News Co.